

"Make a list of the traits of the type of spouse you would like to marry.

Then make a list of the traits you would need to attract that type of person.

Then throw away the first list and work on the second.

Don't just look for the right one—become the right one!"