

"A man who examines the saddle and bridle
and not the animal itself when he is out to buy a horse is a fool;
similarly,
only an absolute fool
values a man according to his clothes,
or according to his position,
which, after all, is only something we wear
like clothing."

---Seneca--