

"When you are tempted to look elsewhere for greener pastures, just remember someone else s probably looking at yours.

And if another pasture looks greener, perhaps it is getting better care and attention.

Grass is always greener..... where it is watered."