

Francois Rene' de Chateaubriand gave
the history of man in a sentence:

“In the days of service
all things are founded;
in the days of
special privilege
they deteriorate;
and in the days of vanity
they are destroyed.”

(quoted by Vaughn J. Featherstone in his book: The Millennial Generation—leading today's youth into the future, p. 118)