

"A century from today,
these won't mean a thing:

the house we lived in,
the money we made,
the clothes we wore,
the kind of car we drove.

But the world will be a better place . . . because our children were loved."

(Family Circle cartoon, 1996